

Frankenstein (1954)

Each of the words below originally belonged to the same category (although purists may describe it as two separate but related categories), until old Victor got a hold of them. He's added a letter to each, and anagrammed the results. (e.g., if the original category was "colors", he may have turned RED to DEER, GREEN to ENERGY, and VIOLET to OUTLIVE.)

After determining the original entities, the category will suggest a second entity related to the first. Enter these in the blanks in the far right. Once done, be sure to search for any more monsters that might be headed this way.
